

FLORIDA

The only disadvantages of the Florida timber summer house are that you'll need a central point to utilise all of the windows around the summerhouse and you'll to keep your garden in pretty good shape. With 360-degree views there's nowhere to hide your garden junk or slack off on the weeding. It's actually a pity about having to do that weeding, as the Florida pavilion is somewhere you could while away many, many hours. 34mm timber logs mean it's well insulated and there is loads of space, to entertain and enjoy your garden all year round.
